Stand-by fees

a. Court Attendance:

Where a Medical Practitioner is requested to make himself/herself available to attend Court on a specific date(s) and for any reason his or her services are not required, then:

1. Where the court or tribunal is less than 10 km from Kilmurry Medical Centre and he/she is not given at least 72 hours (3 days) notice (or 96 hours which includes Saturday and Sunday) that his/her services are not required, the fee payable shall be 25% of the fee (€250) had he/she actually attended court. A locum will generally not be required and therefore a locum cancellation fee and agency fee will not apply.
2. Where the court or tribunal is more than 10 km from Kilmurry Medical Centre and he/she is not given at least 96 hours (4 days) notice (or 120 hours which includes Saturday and Sunday) that his/her services are not required, the fee payable shall be 50% of the fee (€450) had he/she actually attended court. A locum will generally be required and therefore full locum fee and agency fee will apply.

b. Examination of Patient:

Where a medical practitioner is requested to make him/herself available on a specific date to examine a patient and for any reason his or her services are not required, then:

1. Where the examination location is at Kilmurry Medical Centre and he/she is not given at least 72 hours (3 days) notice (or 96 hours which includes Saturday and Sunday) that his/her services are not required, the fee payable shall be 50% of the fee (€175) had he/she actually attended the examination.
2. Where the examination location is more than 10km from Kilmurry Medical Centre and he/she is not given at least 96 hours (4 days) notice (or 120 hours which includes Saturday and Sunday) that his/her services are not required, the fee payable shall be 50% of the fee (€175) had he/she actually attended the examination. A locum will generally be required and therefore full locum fee and agency fee will apply.
